

Make your meetings more effective and different...

Are you already busy with your strategy for the months to come? Busy planning so called strategy days to get the best out of your team and company this year?

What has your focus? Growing your turnover? Your employee engagement? Customer experience? Or a combination of those? Whatever your goal may be, a well thought strategic plan is very important. Brainstorming, planning, making choices, take action, they are all important in the process.

Leadership

I am now living my entrepreneurial life in my homeland of Suriname after having lived in the Netherlands for 32 years.

The first years have been one big discovery to myself, myself as an entrepreneur and my country. I will tell you, it was and still is great and exciting.

As a leadership trainer, motivational speaker and coach I was able to do awesome assignments and started my own event concept with the Inspiring Speaking events. They were received very well by the Surinamese public. I have build an awesome business and personal network and have experienced working on several beautiful training locations. In the city of Paramaribo as well as in the green interior of Suriname, it is possible to arrange teambuilding, brainstorming and strategic sessions and combine them with adventurous relaxing activities. A lot of local companies and organizations in Suriname make use of these possibilities with their teams.

Would you like to make your meetings more effective and different?

Then think about a strategic, teambuilding or brainstorm incentive in beautiful tropical Suriname. For practically the same rate you have a 3 day session in a hotel for, you and your team can have an adventurous incentive in the tropics. A real reward for the hard work in the past year. It is also possible to meet & network with your Surinamese peers during an arranged networking lunch or dinner.

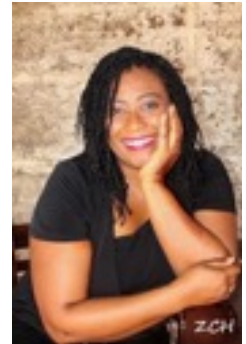

Did you know that:

- Suriname exists out of at least 95% pure tropical Amazon rainforest.
- A lot of people who live in Suriname have had their education in Europe (the Netherlands) or in the USA. They live and work here happily in the tropics.
- Thus there is a huge network with capable professionals that can complement your incentive and make it even more effective.
- I have grown my event planning experience as well as my network of professionals and awesome locations.
- A weeks stay in Suriname most certainly can compete with a 3 day session at a US/ European hotel or resort, price wise.
- Having your meetings in the tropics is way out of your comfort zone and brings new insights and inspiration.
- A great deal of the people in Suriname speak English very well and that Dutch is the main language.

- We have the best and most varied food in South America.
- We have a great US dollar rate at the moment.
- There are direct flights from Amsterdam, Curacao, Miami, Trinidad and Aruba to Suriname.
- Your incentive program will be completely custom made.

Experiencing is believing, so it is probably time to plan your first incentive to beautiful, tropical, unique Suriname. For questions and or a custom made incentive program email me now at retreats@clipconsultancy.com

I am looking forward to welcoming you and your team in beautiful Suriname.
